

Becoming into Being. Attempt of Reconstruction of Noica's Rationality

Fr. Prof. PhD ION POPESCU,
University of Pitești,
i.popescu1954@yahoo.com

Abstract

Between the thinkers which have sanctioned the individualism, the polycentrism, the propensity of post modernity toward hermeneutics and also the negation of rationality that him dangerously closes to the nihilism and to the philosophical absurd is also the Romanian philosopher, Constantin Noica.

Thus, Noica's ontology is a response to the „crisis” of the philosophical consciousness at the end of the twentieth century.

The illumination of the world through the philosophical conscience, reason or sophia by human being which touch the performance of „ real ” is not reduced in Noica's vision just to being.

The uman or real being transcend the time and the space, designed in a manner either of Augustine or in that of Thomas d'Aquino or after historicist or scientific acceptance of the contemporary world.