Abstract

For the Romanian Orthodox Church, Justinian Marina was one of the most important Patriarch which she had during the communist regime. He was very involved in the life of the Church and society. In an academically way, our study presents in distinct parts his activity. First, we pay attention on his administrative activity, on his involvement to construct and to renovate church buildings. Also, very important for his personality, he had a great social and pastoral activity, connected with the theological one. As a theologian, he published many books and articles, many sermons and pastoral letters. As a Patriarch, he had a remarkable ecumenical implication, both with the Orthodox Church and other Christian Churches. His model can be follow today when we are implicated in a very difficult with different ideologies and perspectives.
