Abstract

Craiova town has in present a lot of old churches, many of them with deep historical roots. A special one is the church „Saint Old George”, situated almost near the centre of the city. In our historical article we present the old documents attesting the existence of this church in the chronicles of time. Obviously, as a tradition, an important family from that time have incurred the cost for the construction. In our case, Brăiloiu family had this role. As founders, they are even today commemorate at the altar of the Church.
